I. Organization and Program Information

TerraCorps is a nonprofit organization working at the intersection of land conservation, sustainable farming, and local food systems to build local nonprofit capacity while growing the next generation of emerging leaders committed to making a difference at the community level. We value the power of local nonprofits to best understand and serve their communities, and our goal is to help them succeed by providing them access to the AmeriCorps national service model to build organizational capacity.

TerraCorps partners with a network of nonprofits in Massachusetts and Rhode Island focused on community needs related to local land conservation and sustainable agriculture. These partners provide service sites for a new cohort of AmeriCorps service members annually who serve in one of five coordinator roles focused on:

- Land Conservation
- Land Stewardship
- Sustainable Agriculture
- Community Engagement
- Youth Education

Service members are paired with a site supervisor who provides them guidance and mentorship while they learn to manage community programs and projects over a 1,700-hour service term.

Service member will be serving at Charles River Conservancy. Land Stewardship Coordinators focus their service activities on natural resources management. Founded in 2000, the CRC is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that strives to make the Charles River and its parks a well-maintained network of natural urban places that invite and engage all in their use and care. In partnership with the Massachusetts Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR), as well as other State, City and community stakeholders, the CRC's goals are to: 1) cultivate active engagement with the river; 2) define the parks as a platform for community and cultural life; 3) advocate using research and placemaking; and 4) ensure long term sustainability of the natural resource and organization. While the CRC's office is in East Cambridge, our geographic focus stretches ten miles from Watertown to Boston.

II. Essential Responsibilities

- Collaborate with your service site supervisor to develop and modify an annual service plan within the first month of service.
